Biographical Sketch

Dr. Ronald J. Kizior earned a Bachelor of Business Administration in Accounting from the University of Notre Dame in 1964 and a Master of Business Administration in Transportation from Northwestern University in 1965. He also earned a Master of Arts and PhD in Economics from the University of Notre Dame in 1972 and 1976, respectively. Dr. Kizior began working at Loyola as a professor of Management Science in the business school. Since coming to Loyola University Chicago he has taught courses in Management Science (MgSc), Information Systems (INFS), and Information Systems & Operations Management (ISOM), as well as internship courses for both graduate and undergraduate students.

He has been a member of the Education Special Interest Group (EDSIG) since 1985, and he was inducted into Beta Gamma Sigma (BGS) in 1978. In addition, Dr. Kizior has served as the Membership Director (1994-1995) and Treasurer (1996) of EDSIG, as well as the Exhibits Chair of ISECON (Information Systems Education Conference) in 1995.

Dr. Kizior has hosted several conferences, including the 8th Annual Colleagues in Jesuit Business Education Conference in July 2005, the 7th Annual Ethics and Technology Conference in June 2004, the Autism Conference in May 2003, COBOL Expo 2002 (COBOL stands for COMmon Business-Oriented Language), the 5th Annual Ethics and Technology Conference in July 2000, and "COBOL University" in August 1997. He was also the conference chair of the 1st and 2nd Annual Ethics and Technology Conferences in March and June 1997, and the Midwest Computer Conference in March 1996.
