Biographical History

Diane Ciral was born on November 27, 1934. Raised in Hyde Park, she has been a devoted Chicagoan her entire life. Educated at the University of Wisconsin where she majored in theatre, Ciral then returned to Chicago to marry her husband Shevlin and raise their children Jody and Dan. It was as a young mother in the 1960s that Ciral first became involved in many liberal causes and began her active organizational life. Ciral was appointed to the Uptown Conservation Community Council in 1975 and also worked with the Uptown branch of the Hull House. In 1975, Ciral was among the founding members of Friends of the Parks, a citizens' action group concerned about preserving the parks in Chicago, which she would continue to be involved with for more than 30 years. Ciral worked extensively with the Chicago Sister Cities International Program on the Casablanca Committee and travelled to Morocco through this organization numerous times. Additionally, she worked with the Newberry Library and chaired its Bughouse Square Committee for a number of years. Among her other causes, Ciral has also been an active member of International Women Associates, an organization devoted to improving international relations through professional and personal communication and exchanges, since 2002.

Scope and Content

The Diane Ciral Papers consist of 4.0 linear feet (8 boxes) of materials spanning the years 1967-2012, as well as copies of a document from 1898. The bulk of the materials relate to Ciral's professional career within various organizations and include meeting agendas and minutes, annual reports, correspondence, financial documents, newsletters, newspaper articles, and event planning documents. The organizational material relates mainly to three of the many organizations Ciral was actively involved in: Friends of the Parks, International Women Associates, and Sister Cities International Casablanca Committee, with additional materials related to other organizations. The collection also includes many photographs, oversized material such as newspapers from the Fort Indianatown Gap refugee camp for Southeast Asian refugees in the 1970s, and 3D objects including political buttons from Dick Friedman's 1971 mayoral campaign. All series are arranged alphabetically and subsequently by date where applicable.

Series 1: Biographical, 1971-2012, undated, Box 1

A small series, this section contains personal correspondence and newspaper clippings as well as an excerpt from Ciral's memoir.

Series 2: Friends of the Parks, 1977-2012, undated, Box 1-2

The material in this series relates to Ciral's work with the organization Friends of the Parks. Materials include meeting agendas and minutes, annual reports, board member information, organizational information, events, organizational correspondence, newspaper articles, financial information, newsletters, and project proposals.

Series 3: International Women Associates, 1999-2010, undated, Box 2

This series pertains to Ciral's work with International Women Associates. Material within this series includes annual reports, meeting agendas and minutes, organizational correspondence, event invitations and programs, event planning documents, and background information on award recipients.

Series 4: Sister Cities International, 1991-2011, undated, Box, 3-4

The material in this series includes material about the Chicago Sister Cities International program as a whole, but the vast majority pertains specifically to the Casablanca Committee. This series includes domestic and international organizational correspondence, meeting agendas and minutes, brochures, event planning documents, trip planning documents, contact lists, newsletters, financial documents, and newspaper articles. There is also one folder which contains documents written in French.

Series 5: Professional, 1898, 1967-2006, undated, Box 4-6

Materials in this series relate to Ciral's professional life. Included within this series are materials relating to political campaigns, the Chicago Public Library Central Building, the Chicago Water Tower, museum exhibits, Chicago Cultural Center, Millennium Park, Chicago's millennium celebration, Lakefront SRO, the Newberry Library, Temple Sholom Synagogue, Uptown history, Uptown Hull House, and Vietnamese refugee support.

Series 6: Audiovisual Material, 1975-1977, 1996-2007, undated, Box 6-8

This series consists of a large number of photographs and some negatives as well as oversized and 3D material. The majority of the photographic material relates to the Sister Cities International Casablanca Committee and trips to Morocco through this organization. There are also pictures of Friends of the Parks events as well as unidentified photographs. The negatives within this series have been digitized. Oversized and 3D material includes newspapers from the Fort Indianatown Gap refugee camp, a Mundelein College summer workshop program, a copy of the Chicago Tribune Magazine, a hand fan from the McCormick Freedom Museum and political buttons from the Friedman Mayoral campaign. Please speak with an employee for access to digital material.
